SOLID WOOD

The wood used for Bontempi table tops is selected from the best existing sources in the European and American markets.

Solid woods used for our tops are dried from 6 to 8 months, in order to reduce their humidity rate to 5%. The woods are cut into boards, joined together to make up the top.

This is the best way to guarantee the wood stability. Our goal is to minimize the impact of the external temperature on the bare wood.

“Knots”, “natural cracks” and “slight differences in colours” noticeable on table tops testify the authenticity and uniqueness of every single tree.

The wood used for the long side of the top is a natural edge wood, that vividly replicates the trunks natural cut. Therefore, the width of the top can be slightly different if measured in different parts of it. Consequently, the table tops width specified in this price-list might be subject to variation.

The process of removing the bark from the edge is handmade. This makes the edge unique and handcrafted.

All tops are treated with water-based varnish on their surface, allowing a natural touch effect, offering protection from humidity and, at the same time, maintaining the wood natural colour.

PREMIUM NAPPA LEATHER

Fine leather preserving the original and natural softness of the hides ensuring aesthetic, touch-appeal and durability over time.

The natural grain leather is chrome tanned to accentuate with the color the natural beauty of the skin design on the whole thickness.

After dyeing, the leathers are finished with treatments that increase their resistance to light and rubbing.
