Frag 01/11 is a FULL-GRAIN vegetable leather, produced with traditional chemical-free tanning techniques. It is a natural product, valued and noted for its light marking, its surface wrinkling and veining, its aroma and its shades of colour. Such features all testify to a prestige product that will gain value over time. This age-old and sturdy material is used to make unique items that are destined to last for generations. Only a small and specially designed selection of our products can be made with this prestige material. It is processed entirely in Italy, where total control of the production process and treatments guarantees quality and durability.
